FOUNDRY. | EDUCATION

How to activate your student key:

1. Go to https://www.foundry.com/licensing/activate-product

2. Enter your activation key (provided by your school) in the Activation Key box—click activate

3. This will then prompt you to enter a System ID with instructions on how to find this. Once you have entered the System ID, go to 'Activate' again

4. Your license key will be e-mailed to you. You can copy and paste the license text (blue text on email) in to the FLU under the license tab. Once the license file is installed, you can download the products here: https://www.foundry.com/product-downloads

Home use license FAQ's

- Can I use this on more than one computer? No, we have only allocated one license per student and it can only be activated on one computer. To install on a second computer, please confirm with your school if there are any excess licenses.

- Can I share this key with others outside of my program? No, this key is specific to your school and may only be distributed by a school official. If found to be distributed outside of current students, the key will be disabled and users will be at fault for license infringement.

- Can these be installed on our lab computers? No, these are not a replacement for classroom licenses. They are intended for students to have home access and can only be installed on a computer solely used by an individual student. Installing them on a classroom computer is a violation of the EULA.

- Can I use this on commercial work? No. Our free student licenses are for learning purposes only and can not be used on any kind of paid work. You may purchase a graduate or discounted commercial license which can be used on commercial work.

- Can I purchase a graduate or commercial license once I finish school? Yes. More details on our annual graduate license and discounted commercial licenses can be found at foundry.com/education

- What's included with my student license? You have full access to our Education Collective which includes Nuke Studio, Modo, Mari and Katana.

- I am having difficulty installing or using my license. How can I resolve this? Support for students is available on our dedicated support forum here: https://community.foundry.com/discuss/students

- Can I transfer my license to a different computer? The Education Collective for students can be used on one machine only. If you wish to transfer to another machine, please email us at educationsupport@foundry.com requesting a license transfer form. A license can be transferred a max of 2 times a year.

Find out more at https://www.foundry.com/education/students